Letter from the Executive Director

Beethoven is quoted as saying that music can change the world.
It was Bono who said that music can change the world because it can change people.

The image on the front of this newsletter is the black suede and leather jacket worn by Bono of U2 during their halftime show at the 2002 Super Bowl…less than five months after the horrific events of 9/11. I distinctly remember watching that performance on the television from my apartment in Queens, NY. It was the first time in a while that I had felt hopeful, inspired and dare I say, strong. With crowds cheering, a stories-high screen rose from the back of the stage with the names of the victims from 9/11 projected on to it, while U2 performed Where the Streets Have No Name, a song I had heard many, many times before. I was curious to know why that song, at that time, and after a little research, the correlation was clear. The song is about breaking down barriers and creating a society where everyone comes together. In that moment, U2 was doing just that, and it was louder than words.

This fall, we have a unique opportunity to host two exhibitions that explore both our similarities and our differences, that challenge our perceptions and that have the power to effect change.

Race: Are We So Different? takes a cultural and scientific look at race throughout history. It will challenge visitors to probe deeper into the complex and often misunderstood concept of race through highly engaging interactives. All ages will enjoy exploring this experiential approach to learning and we hope that it will serve as a catalyst to “get the conversation started.”

The Rock & Roll Hall of Fame in Cleveland, Ohio, and the Newseum in Washington, D.C., partnered to create Louder Than Words: Rock, Power & Politics. This exhibition explores the power of song and music’s influence in our nation and throughout the world.

I would be remiss if I didn’t mention that these two displays coincide with the city-wide commemoration of the 1919 lynching of Will Brown, a story that is featured in the museum’s permeant exhibition galleries. Learn more about this project on page 7 of this newsletter.

As museum members, donors and friends, we are tremendously grateful for all the ways you come together to support the museum. It is because of you that we are able to do this important work and you have certainly made a difference.

With sincere appreciation,

Christi Janssen
Executive Director
From the moment rock and roll hit the airwaves, it has played a crucial role in politics and social movements around the world. Louder Than Words: Rock, Power & Politics looks at some of the most important debates in our country through the lens of rock music. The exhibit includes exclusive video interviews with people such as Bono and Jimmy Carter, and combines them with interactives, photography and artifacts to examine how music has both shaped and reflected our cultural norms on eight topics: Civil Rights, LGBTQ, Feminism, War & Peace, Censorship, Political Campaigns, Political Causes and International Politics. The exhibit is organized by presidential administrations – from Eisenhower through Trump – and uses historical context to shed insight into how we view these issues today. Examples of artifacts included in the exhibit are:

- Joe Strummer’s 1966 Fender Telecaster Electric Guitar from his Clash years
- Grace Slick Vest from Jefferson Airplane’s performance at the Woodstock Music and Arts Fair, 1969
- Original handwritten lyrics from Bob Dylan’s “The Times They Are a-Changin’,” Chuck Berry’s “School Day,” Neil Young’s “Ohio,” Bruce Springsteen’s “Born in the U.S.A” and Green Day’s “American Idiot”
- Correspondence between the FBI and Priority Records regarding Public Enemy’s “Fight the Power”
- Original Village People stage costumes
- Artifacts related to the Vietnam War, the May 4, 1970 shooting at Kent State, the fall of the Berlin Wall and the #BlackLivesMatter movement

RACE: Are We So Different?
September 28, 2019 - January 5, 2020

We all know people look different. Throughout history, those differences have been a source of strength, community and personal identity. They have also been the basis for discrimination and oppression. And while those differences are socially and culturally real, contemporary scientific understanding of race and human variation is complex and may challenge how we think about it. RACE: Are We So Different? helps visitors understand what race is and what it is not. It gives them the tools to recognize racial ideas and practices in contemporary American life.

RACE encourages museum visitors to explore race and racism from three different perspectives:

1. Biology: Visitors will discover that human beings are more alike than any other living species, and no one gene or set of genes can support the idea of race.

2. History: Ideas about race have been around for hundreds of years, and they have changed over time. Throughout American history, economic interests, popular culture, science, politics and the struggle for power have played a role in shaping our understanding of race.

3. Everyday experience: Though race may not be a real biological concept, it certainly is real both socially and culturally. Visitors will explore the personal experiences of race in our schools, neighborhoods, health care systems, sports and entertainment industries and more.

RACE: Are We So Different?, developed by the American Anthropological Association in collaboration with the Science Museum of Minnesota, is the first national exhibition to tell the stories of race from the biological, cultural and historical points of view. Combining these perspectives offers an unprecedented look at race and racism in the United States.
“Lest We Forget”: The Story of Will Brown and Omaha’s Red Summer

Digital Interactive – Opens September 28

In observance of the 100th anniversary of the Red Summer and the lynching of Will Brown, The Durham Museum has augmented the Conflict Brings Change area of our permanent exhibitions with a digital interactive that delves into both the historical events and the modern legacy of this horrific tragedy.

The Durham Museum has long been a place for engaging, hands-on learning, but we also want to be a place for the community to think and talk about important topics. To that end, our interactive will explore:

1. The History of Lynching in Nebraska
2. What Was the Red Summer?
3. The Lynching of Will Brown
4. Witnesses to History (including oral histories from a number of individuals who witnessed September 28, 1919 first-hand, and also modern perspectives looking back on that day)
5. Reflections and Legacy (modern interviews on what has changed and what hasn’t changed in Omaha since 1919 and where the community goes from here). Beyond the interactive, the entirety of the interviews recorded will be preserved at the museum for posterity and made available for researchers, students and the general public.

Omaha Table Talk with Inclusive Communities
Tuesday, October 15, 5-7:30PM

In conjunction with RACE: Are We So Different?, The Durham Museum is partnering with Inclusive Communities to host a realistic conversation centered around the construct of race and its implications for our society. As a part of the Omaha Table Talk series, Inclusive Communities staff and volunteers will facilitate the program Race, Really: The Myths and Realities of Racial Differences and focus on the “reality” of race, myths, language and much more.

Guests will arrive and check-in at 5PM to spend time in the exhibition, before joining the group for dinner and discussion from 6-7:30PM. Registered guests will attend the event and gain admission to the museum at no cost. Please visit DurhamMuseum.org to register, or email education@DurhamMuseum.org. Space is limited.

Family Guide
As a companion to the RACE exhibit, a complimentary family guide will be available to all visitors and is designed to help answer questions that may arise after visiting the RACE exhibit. The guide may be used as a resource for parents and caregivers to discuss race and racism with young children.

A Look Ahead

The USS Omaha
Opening November 9, 2019

Did you know Omaha has had the honor of lending its name to four different naval vessels since 1869? Each one has been on the technological cutting edge of its time. The current USS Omaha, an Independence Class Littoral Combat Ship, was commissioned in 2018 and christened in 2019 by ship sponsor Susie Buffett. With her home port at the San Diego Naval Base, the USS Omaha serves the Pacific Fleet and is among the most technologically advanced naval ships today. She requires a crew of 10 officers and 51 enlisted seamen for her operation and focuses on surface warfare, anti-submarine warfare and mine countermeasures.

In honor of our city’s newest namesake, The Durham Museum is renovating a section of our permanent exhibitions, adjacent to the current military history section, to tell the 150-year story of the ships that have carried the Omaha name. In addition to physical artifacts, the exhibition will feature a model of the newest USS Omaha and a digital interactive screen that will allow visitors to explore the functionality of the ship and the naval history of Nebraska.

This enhanced visitor experience is generously sponsored by The Sherwood Foundation.
Pulitzer Prize Photographs
February 22 - May 3, 2020

Photographers record the defining moments of our world and our time, capturing history through timeless images of fleeting moments. With the click of a button, vivid imagery documents the pain of poverty, the ecstasy of victory and the triumph of redemption.

This exhibition, the second Pulitzer-themed display to visit The Durham Museum, features more than 80 large-format framed photographs, expanded so that visitors can explore every detail of the gripping images. Each will be accompanied by a label describing the dramatic story of how the photographer captured the moment. Interactive touchscreen kiosks explore more recent Pulitzer Prize winners through more than 1,000 images and 15 hours of video interviews with the photographers. Additionally, The Durham Museum will display Homecoming, the 1944 Pulitzer Prize-winning photograph by Earl “Buddy” Bunker of the Omaha World-Herald.

The exhibit features the most comprehensive collection of Pulitzer Prize-winning photographs ever assembled. From iconic images like Joe Rosenthal’s 1945 photo of the American flag raising at Iwo Jima, to past and present moments of triumph and tragedy, these unforgettable photographs serve as the world’s eyes to history as it happened.

GUITAR: The Instrument That Rocked The World
May 30 - September 6, 2020

Coming in the summer of 2020, explore the history of the world’s most popular musical instrument in GUITAR: The Instrument That Rocked The World. Experience diverse genres of music and discover the science of pitch and tone. Crossing over cultural boundaries, the guitar has had a significant impact on a wide variety of groups from gypsies to cowboys to teenage rebels.

See over 100 historical artifacts, including more than 70 guitars, that immerse you in the heart of music. Experience the rush of the world’s most iconic musical instrument through the powerful lens of science. You, too, can play the Guinness Record-holding 43.5 foot-long guitar. Discover how the selection of different materials and strings, fused with electromagnetism and amplification, create an elaborate device that has revolutionized music.

GUITAR: The Instrument That Rocked The World is a Touring Exhibition of The National GUITAR Museum.

It’s the most wonderful time of the year! Christmas at Union Station is back for another year of holiday cheer. This long standing tradition is one of the top holiday destinations in the region. From the 40-foot-tall twinkling tree to holidays around the globe to Santa himself, you won’t want to miss it!

Tree Lighting Ceremony
Friday, November 29, 4-8PM
(Tree Lighting happens at about 7PM)

The Christmas at Union Station festivities begin with the annual Tree Lighting Ceremony. Enjoy loads of entertainment including live music, cookie decorating and holiday crafts, plus Santa himself! All the good tidings and cheer lead up to the signature tradition of the night: the community countdown to lighting the region’s largest indoor Christmas tree!

Holiday Cultural Trees Display
November 29, 2019 - January 5, 2020

A holiday favorite returns to The Durham’s galleries during Christmas at Union Station. The display is one of the enduring fixtures of the season and showcases how cultures from around the world celebrate the holiday season. Each tree is decorated by a local Omaha cultural society and is accompanied by interpretative text explaining the meaning behind the various decorations and unique traditions of each culture.

Holiday Lights Family Festival
Sunday, December 1, Noon-5PM

The Family Festival offers the community an opportunity to experience many of Omaha’s leading downtown attractions for free. The Durham Museum and other participating sites will offer free admission and family activities. Visit holidaylightsfestival.org for complete details.

Scouts-Only Family Night
Monday, December 9, 4-7PM
$5 per person (Scout or Adult) - All ages welcome!

Scout families, enjoy the best of Christmas at Union Station complete with cookie decorating and a scavenger hunt. Family-friendly, holiday-themed activities will make this a night to remember. - Noon Year’s Eve - December 31
This past summer, the Curatorial Services Department was pleased to host over 70 middle and high school students and teachers from the Omaha Public Schools Making Invisible Histories Visible program. The students were researching the ethnic enclaves of Omaha situated along the city’s historic streetcar routes. Getting out of the classroom, the students were able to go “behind-the-scenes” to examine historic photographs and artifacts in the collection, browse the permanent gallery displays and also to interview staff member, Bill Gonzalez, about what it was like to grow up as a Mexican-American in South Omaha and how he has experienced the changes in the city throughout his lifetime.

Introducing The Durham Museum Podcast!
You heard that right! The Durham Museum now has its own podcast. Starting November 1, you can listen to the first five episodes featuring the history of Union Station, Byron Reed, the Photo Archive and much more. This new endeavor allows us to reach people beyond the walls of the museum and share the fascinating history of our city, museum and collections with people around the country. You can find the episodes on any of your favorite podcast players (search for The Durham Museum Podcast) as well as our website at DurhamMuseum.org/Podcast.

Shine the Light on Hunger
Throughout the holiday season, you can drop off non-perishable food items at The Durham to help support the Food Bank for the Heartland as part of Conagra Brands Foundation’s Shine the Light on Hunger campaign. Please help us fight hunger in our community and assist those in greatest need.

Give the Gift of Membership!
Give the gift of membership to The Durham Museum to someone special on your list to receive a FREE box of Nebraska-made Baker’s Chocolate Meltaways! Or, renew your membership at The Durham Museum and keep those chocolates for yourself (we won’t tell!). Promotion begins November 29 and applies to purchases made at The Durham Museum only. WHILE SUPPLIES LAST.

Help Make History
This fall, we invite you to bring history closer to our community by making a contribution to The Durham Museum’s Annual Fund. Your gift will support important needs like stocking our classrooms and Platform interactive space, preserving Union Station and museum collections and enabling our staff and volunteers to serve more students and families. Gifts of every amount are both needed and appreciated! As the holidays approach, we hope you’ll join us in making history happen by supporting The Durham with a year-end gift or additional contribution to your next membership renewal.

Looking for a special holiday gift? Support the Brick-by-Brick Campaign!
Honor a friend or loved one with an engraved brick at The Durham Museum! For a tax-deductible contribution of $200, you can support the museum’s mission and give a personalized gift for that hard to shop for history lover on your list. Call, stop in or visit DurhamMuseum.org/Support to learn more!

Planned Giving at The Durham Museum
Have you considered leaving a lasting legacy by making a planned gift to the museum? By including The Durham in your will with a bequest or other financial instruments, you can play a sustaining role in preserving our region’s rich history and ensuring the museum’s continued growth. Your contribution can be directed to support the work of specific departments or strengthen the museum’s general endowment. Your gift can also provide significant tax benefits to you and your family. Already have the museum in your plans? Please let us know!

For more information on how to support The Durham Museum, please contact Corey Wilson, Director of Development, at 402-444-5071 ext. 577 or cwilson@DurhamMuseum.org.

On Track Guild Members and Friends
Mark your calendars for Tuesday, December 10 at 11:30AM for the On Track Annual Meeting and Executive Director’s Luncheon. Come enjoy the festive holiday atmosphere of The Durham Museum while socializing with fellow Guild members and friends of The Durham, listen to beautiful music of the season performed by Beth Asbjornson, Camille Metoyer-Moten and Rebecca Noble and celebrate the successes of the Guild in 2019. The Durham Museum is excited to announce the revitalization of the entrance to our featured exhibition galleries.

STOP IN AND CHECK IT OUT IN MID-OCTOBER

Thanks to the vision and generosity of the John K. and Lynne Durham Boyer Family Foundation, the Sunny Durham Family Foundation, the Debby Durham Family Foundation and the Steven H. Durham Family Charitable Foundation, The Durham Museum is updating the foyer leading into our featured exhibition galleries with new capabilities to enhance the museum experience:

• The space will feature a 16 x 9 foot video wall display with interactive capabilities.

• Automatic sliding glass doors will be installed at both entrances, providing easy access for visitors while maintaining necessary climate control within the exhibit space.

• Doors and walls will be removed to create a brighter, more open environment. Visitors will have more direct access to the restrooms and will now be able to use the elevator adjacent to the space.
