"Yahoo — It's a celebration!"

We enter 2025 embracing a new sense of excitement and energy (and the infectious beat of Kool & the Gang) as the museum embarks on its 50th year as Omaha's Home to History. It is a celebration!

In 1975, a group of Omaha citizens gathered at the former Union Station for a private opening of the newly minted Western Heritage Museum. The following day, the museum opened to the public, welcoming over 3,000 guests during its first weekend. That's an impressive showing, considering the primary exhibit on display was the station itself — a bit worn and crumbling yet filled with our region's rich history and a tremendous amount of unbridled pride. Omaha's "white elephant" had set its course. Out of a simple desire to tell our city's story and preserve its greatest artifact — Union Station — The Durham Museum has evolved into one of the community's most enduring and impactful institutions. That's worth celebrating!

No longer worn and crumbling, the station stands as a testament to design, ingenuity and strength. This spring, we will put the "cherry on top" as we replace the roof that protects the timeless Art Deco details of our National Historic Landmark. I guess you could say that we are looking forward to "raising the roof!"

Also worth celebrating is the tremendous lineup of exhibitions in store for the year ahead. We are privileged to participate in The Nebraska Initiative, a partnership between the Nebraska Commission for the Blind and Visually Impaired and Tactile Images, to feature Abraham Lincoln: President, Emancipator, Corporate Pitchman (Pg. 7). This multi-sensory exhibition is a significant milestone in enhancing accessibility for individuals with diverse abilities. Abraham Lincoln, coupled with Antarctic Dinosaurs, Animation Academy: From Pencils to Pixels and HOCKEY: Faster Than Ever will help make this milestone year something to celebrate!

Finally, we would be remiss if we didn't tip our party hats to all those who made it possible.

*There's a party goin' on right here.
A celebration to last throughout the years.
So bring your good times and your laughter too.
We gonna celebrate your party with you.*

It is your party. It is your museum, and we celebrate you each and every day. On behalf of the entire museum team, thank you for making 50 years possible.

Cheers!

Christi Janssen
Executive Director

Dinosaurs have never been cooler!

Embark on a dramatic adventure to Antarctica — one of the most isolated and dangerous environments on Earth — and witness the latest discovery: dinosaurs.

The only exhibition of its kind to showcase holotypes of dinosaur fossils, Antarctic Dinosaurs, on display February 15 - May 4, immerses visitors in the thrilling hunt for never-before-seen fossils and sheds new light on our planet's ever-changing climate and geology. Examine fossils that reveal Antarctica's past alongside large-scale replicas of dinosaur species unique to the continent. Then, witness the persistent challenges and extreme conditions of expeditions to the "Lost Continent" to gain an understanding of the tough working conditions for the scientists who must rely on an arsenal of modern power tools to extract fossils from rock and bring these discoveries to light.

Antarctic Dinosaurs was developed by the Field Museum, Chicago in partnership with the Natural History Museum of Los Angeles County, Discovery Place – Charlotte, NC, and the Natural History Museum of Utah. Generous support was provided by the Kenneth C. Griffin Charitable Fund.

This is a bilingual exhibit available in English and Spanish.
Esta es una exhibición bilingüe disponible en inglés y español.

Beyond the Ice: Unearthing Antarctic Dinosaurs, featuring guest speakers Dr. Nathan Smith and Dr. Ashley Poust

Monday, March 31

5PM Social Hour, 6:30PM Presentation

Today, Antarctica sits icy, empty and cold. But there was a time when it was covered in lush forests, plants... and dinosaurs! How could such an icy and desolate landmass have been a warm habitat for some of Earth's biggest creatures?

On March 31, learn about the unique challenges and discoveries of paleontology in Antarctica. We'll be joined by Dr. Nathan Smith — known as the "Polar Explorer" — from the Natural History Museum of Los Angeles' Dinosaur Institute and co-curator of the Antarctic Dinosaurs exhibition, along with Dr. Ashley Poust, paleontologist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's Morrill Hall.

Social hour includes light hors d'oeuvres, a cash bar and a chance to view the exhibition.

HOW TO REGISTER:

Do you have a young paleontologist celebrating a big birthday? Book their party at The Durham Museum during our Antarctic Dinosaurs exhibition. For party packages and booking details, visit DurhamMuseum.org/birthdays.

Abraham Lincoln: President, Emancipator, Corporate Pitchman

Now - April 27

The traveling tactile exhibition Abraham Lincoln: President, Emancipator, Corporate Pitchman offers an innovative and immersive exploration of one of America's most iconic figures. Through tactile displays and detailed imagery, the exhibition sheds light on Lincoln's multifaceted roles — as a president who led the country through the Civil War, an emancipator who took pivotal steps toward abolishing slavery and a corporate figure who, posthumously, became a symbol in modern advertising.

Visitors are invited to engage with Lincoln's legacy in ways that appeal to both the senses and the intellect, with tactile images enhancing the experience for all audiences, including those who are blind or visually impaired. By merging history with contemporary cultural analysis, the exhibition encourages a look at how Lincoln's image has been appropriated and commercialized over time.

This exhibition was developed by Tactile Images in association with the Nebraska Commission for the Blind and Visually Impaired, Getty Images, the National Federation of the Blind, and the Alliance for Inclusive Design and Experiences (AIDE).

Job's Daughters International: Supporting 100 Years of Worldwide Female Leadership

Now - April 13

Ethel T. Wead Mick founded The Order of Job's Daughters in Omaha, Nebraska, on October 20, 1920. Mick's goal was to develop an organization that gave young women leadership opportunities. During its first year, the order's focus and work stayed within Nebraska.

It soon grew beyond the state's borders with groups organized in 20 states and over 5,000 members by 1922. The order extended into Canada in 1931, which marked the start of an international organization. The group is known today as Job's Daughters International and is active in five countries, including the United States. What started as a mission to further engage young women in the Omaha community grew into a notable, international cause still embodying this mission today.

The museum is proud to partner with Job's Daughters International to highlight the organization's early years in each country, their philanthropic projects and to display ceremonial crowns and capes from the organization.

A Look Ahead

Omaha's World's Fair of Aviation, 1946

March 29 - September 7

Omaha's Offutt Field hosted the World's Fair of Aviation in July 1946. With an event anticipated to be "the biggest thing that Omaha has done since the Trans-Mississippi Exposition," the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben stepped up as a sponsor to accomplish the task. The event included an indoor exhibit space of 120,000 square feet and also featured air shows with a wide range of military aircraft. In terms of attendance, anywhere from 80,000 to over 100,000 people experienced this incredible local spectacle."

This nine-photo display features images ranging from a German V-2 rocket and "Flying Boxcar" aircraft to the opening ceremony's ribbon cutting, and was curated by The Durham Museum intern, Mina Bussa, University of Nebraska at Omaha student.

Train Rides, Tall Tales and Tailgates: A History of the Cornhusker Club Pullman Railcar, featuring Cate Kratville-Wrinn

Thursday, February 27
5PM Social Hour, 6:30PM Presentation

The Durham's Cornhusker Club Pullman railcar has served in various capacities throughout its 100-year history. Join train historian Cate Kratville-Wrinn and moderator Bob McCoy as they sort through the fascinating and sometimes murky history of one of the museum's most beloved artifacts. From its early years as a Pullman observation car, rumors of its inclusion in President Truman's whistlestop tour and frequent trips to Lincoln for Nebraska football games (captured in the photo above, sourced from a postcard) learn how the railcar came to the museum. The evening will include light hors d'oeuvres and a cash bar, followed by the presentation.

Institute for Holocaust Education lecture, featuring Laurie Pasler, Project Director for Courtroom 600

Wednesday, March 26, 6:30-7:30PM

The Durham Museum is honored to partner with the Institute for Holocaust Education as a part of its annual Week of Understanding, a week of programming and lectures where over 6,000 people will hear the moving testimony of survivors of the Holocaust and second-generation survivors of the Holocaust.

This year's speaker is Laurie Pasler, project director for Courtroom 600.

After inheriting her father's concealed World War II memorabilia from his work at the Nuremberg war crimes trials, Laurie Pasler recognized a pressing need for education regarding this overlooked aspect of history.

The Courtroom 600 project was born out of Laurie's frustration in researching the trials through available online resources — and hundreds of books. In 2016, she founded the Descendants Media Group NFP to preserve the legacy of Nuremberg and convey its lessons to future generations in a new way. Now, in partnership with educators, historians and digital media experts, she is actively bringing the Courtroom 600 project to life.

From the Collection

Prior to the Penny: Abraham Lincoln

The traveling exhibition Abraham Lincoln: President, Emancipator, Corporate Pitchman is not the only area of the museum where you can find objects related to our 16th president. Byron Reed, an Omaha pioneer and avid collector, acquired several coins, medals, books and documents related to Lincoln. Reed even named his son after Honest Abe! Reed's only son, Abraham Lincoln Reed (typically known as A.L.), was born five months after the president's assassination.

Reed's collection includes thousands of coins, some used as currency and others to commemorate events or people. A large number of these are from the Civil War, when official U.S. currency was in short supply and businesses and merchants struck their own tokens to use for commerce. Some of the businesses that supported the Union featured Lincoln on their tokens with phrases such as "Honest Abe of the West" and "A Nation's Benefactor." Tokens referred to as "patriotics" were also produced, many of which featured Lincoln and messages like "The Right Man in The Right Place" and "Lincoln and Union."

Supporters of Lincoln also made coins as part of his presidential campaigns. Most of these in Reed's collection are from the 1864 election with messages such as "Lincoln and Liberty Good for Another Heat" and "Lincoln and Union." Those from his 1860 campaign proclaim "Liberty, Union, and Equality" and "The Rail Splitter of the West." Coin designs would also link him with the popular figure of George Washington. Some were as simple as showing Lincoln's profile on one side and Washington's on the other. Others featured phrases such as "The Union Must and Shall Be Preserved."

Several coins featuring Lincoln are on display in the Byron Reed Gallery on the east side of the permanent exhibits. Be sure to check them out at your next visit to the museum!

Mission Moments

The On Track Guild's fourth annual Coming Home for the Holidays Luncheon and Market was another sell-out success, raising nearly $93,000 to benefit The Durham's educational programming and operations.

Get Involved with the On Track Guild

Be a part of The Durham Museum's On Track Guild! We invite you to join this dedicated volunteer group who support the museum all year long through volunteerism, fundraising and community awareness. Learn more and join today by visiting durhammuseum.org/on-track-guild or call the Development office at 402-444-5071.

Help Make History

The Durham's education programs help inspire a love of history and academic achievement, but we need your help to serve students in our community! Please consider making a contribution to the Annual Fund using the enclosed envelope. Or, contact the Development office at development@DurhamMuseum.org or call 402-444-5071 if you would like to learn about sponsoring a specific program. From field trips to outreach, your support will make a far-reaching impact, and gifts of all sizes are needed and appreciated!

Give Today!

Executive Director Christi Janssen shares a joyful moment with Howard Hawks at The Durham Museum.

Celebrating Howard Hawks

On Friday, December 6, 2024 we lost a truly exceptional leader and dear friend: Howard Hawks. His impact on the museum, our community and Nebraska, was immeasurable. Howard and his wife Rhonda's unwavering generosity can be seen in all aspects of the museum's work. Their support not only ensured the preservation of this magnificent landmark building but also brought countless inspiring exhibitions to life. Beyond his philanthropy, Howard possessed a genuine warmth that touched everyone he met. He always took the time to acknowledge and appreciate the dedication of our staff, making each of us feel valued and appreciated. We will deeply miss Howard's kindness, his wisdom, and his joyful spirit.

FLAPPERS & FIZZ

A FAN-FAVORITE IS BACK
SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 22,
7-10PM

$30 MEMBERS, $40 NON-MEMBERS, $50 AT THE DOOR

Don your glad rags and get ready to drink some giggle water. You're invited to a night of flappers, drinks and Art Deco as Flappers & Fizz returns to The Durham Museum!

- Play our murder mystery game and see if you can figure out who "bumped off" the bookie during a night of cards amongst some Omaha's most infamous mobsters.
- Head to the dance floor to enjoy the fancy footwork of the Omaha Jitterbugs. Want to get in on the action? Kick up your heels and learn to dance the Charleston.
- Snap a photo at our glamorous Art Deco photo op, and if you're lucky, you may even find your way to the secret speakeasies hidden in the museum!

Each ticketholder receives entry to the event, light hors d'oeuvres (while supplies last), one drink ticket and a mystery game packet. So grab grab your glad rags and dancing shoes, this night is going to be the bee's knees! Must be 21 or older to attend.

Past Flapper and Fizz events have sold out so be sure to reserve your tickets soon. Tickets are available on our website at DurhamMuseum.org/fizz or by calling 402-444-5071.
